Welcome

Following the wonderful success of Lahore International Children's Film Festival, It gives me great pleasure to welcome you all to the 1st edition of Karachi International Children's Film Festival (KICFF) 2011. Building on our experience of creating innovative arts education opportunities for children and young people, the festival team is honored to present some of the world's best films made for and by children and young people.

We are delighted that we received over nearly 400 films from around the world and selected some of the best, which are equally educational and entertaining, to present in the KICFF 2011 festival. We are presenting 76 films from 26 countries in this year's festival.

Since the inception of the idea back in 2007, the festival has shown tremendous appreciation in Lahore and at the same time has grown and developed its acceptance among the children and young people of schools and other organizations. We are honored and thankful to all the schools in Lahore, Islamabad and Rawalpindi that they allowed their students to experience the rich cultural experience through film.

We are proud that the Festival is fast becoming synonymous with a sense of wonder and delight, of cultivating the young hearts and minds destined to become our future leaders.

I extend a heartfelt thank you to our sponsors and collaborators, who make it possible for children to have fun while discovering a rich variety of artistic and cultural experiences.

Finally, thanks to Teacher's Resource Center (TRC) for their collaboration and wonderful support, and to all the Festival team, who pull it all together: from the staff to our dedicated volunteers, it simply couldn't happen without you.

We look forward to see you on the 1st Karachi International Children's Film Festival 2011.

with best regards,

Shoab Iqbal
