Early Years are Critical

1. The first 8 years of a child are considered crucial in terms of development, learning and future academic and social success.

2. Neurological research shows that the early years play a key role in a child’s brain development and hence set the trajectory for the future.

3. Children’s early experiences; the bonds they form with their caregivers and teachers affect their physical, cognitive, emotional and social development.

4. Early Childhood education is a unique developmental period, requiring similarly unique strategies and styles.

Teachers’ Resource Centre (TRC) is Pakistan’s pioneering teacher education institution and one of the most prestigious. Teachers’ Resource Centre has been offering the ECED Programme to early childhood educators for the past 11 years.

CACHE established in 1945, works globally with education providers who offer CACHE qualifications to individuals and teachers. Their qualifications are recognized across continents giving individuals the opportunity to work with young children anywhere in the world.
